The thing I find interesting about how the human race thinks for the most part on this earth is that they think contradicted on purpose because the exiled indigo souls of celestial Shamabhala in outer space where my soul comes from and it wasn't earth based or divine soul like a lot of the people who psychics who read my soul from ground below my feet thought that because they couldn't read a soul because they wouldn't know how to because there thinking along with there physiological indifferences in comparison to me which was the exact opposite of mine. They think that they can change our physiology to suit there planetary agenda but they cannot change our physiology including soul physiology because they have a deluded collectivist ideal system that makes them think that they can even if they put there collective heads together even there combined knowledge they couldn't actually do that because divine physiology is a lot different from cosmic physiology so they couldn't actually do anything like so even if they tried because there's soul's evolution along with there manifestation skills is not very evolved unlike ours so even if they where to say that the divine could use transhumanism to enhance themselves to try and do that use individually then that wouldn't work at all because the science isn't settled. Another misconception is that us cosmic souls from outer space and deep space even if we have a individualist physiology and we don't physiologically connect collectively to each other all over the earth where we would get wrongly identified as being Satanists and Luciferians. When in fact there minds, bodies and souls all collectively connect to each other through the natural and artificial electromagnetic fields created by the earth by the earth naturally from the surrounding space outside of the earth atmosphere and through things like the electrical and telecommunications grid. But cosmic souls connect to the natural electromagnetic fields to connects to outer space and deep space from the magnetosphere and we don't connect to the artificial electromagnetic fields created by the electrical and telecommunications grid.
